

Mrs. Archie Bigelow Favorite To Grab Golf Title

MAJOR EVENT TODAY SLATED AS BANNER FEATURE: MRS. SOWLES SALT LAKE'S HOPE

Ogdenville Is First Women in Golf History of State to Get Into Finals; Previous Titles Have All Been Won by Salt Lake Feminine Stars

Mrs. A. P. BIGELOW of the Ogdenville Golf and Country club, big favorite in the eighteenth annual state championship for women, teed off today in the final round of play with Billie Sowles of Salt Lake in a match which is expected to be the most hotly contested of the tournament. Scores of golf "bugs" were at the clubhouse when the match commenced, favoring the Ogdenville to capture the state championship. In the fifteen years in which golf for women has been featured in this state Ogdenville has never had the name of any player listed in the championship. Mrs. Bigelow, however, pulled through a winner. She won the next three holes, halved the match on the fifteenth, won the sixteenth and halved the seventeenth. Mrs. Baker lost the match on the eighteenth hole. She drove the ball into the lake, while Mrs. Bigelow drove straight to the fairway, this obstacle being the downfall of Mrs. Baker.

Mrs. Bigelow was the victor, two up. Mrs. Baker, although defeated, played a keen brand of golf and won the admiration of the gallery by her duck. Mrs. Sowles also displayed ability in her match with Mrs. Browning, coming from behind to put over a victory. At the close of the first nine holes Mrs. Browning had the Salt Lake star, one up. At the thirteenth green Mrs. Sowles evened the play. Mrs. Browning drove the ball far from the green into another plot of land, the hazard causing her downfall. Mrs. Sowles took advantage of this misplay and won on the sixteenth green, three up and two to play.

The drives of the two women were about equal, their mashes being almost identical. Mrs. Browning's lack of tournament experience was noticed in the play from the thirteenth hole to the finish. In the final round of play in the first flight Mrs. J. J. Hanson of Ogden defeated Mrs. C. J. Duggan of Ogden easily, 5 up and 3 to play. Mrs. Hanson displayed remarkable ability in this match despite the fact that she has been playing golf only three months. Mrs. Hanson's play was nothing but outstanding features of this match. She gives promise of being a strong player when the 1923 season gets underway.

Miss Florence Halloran, champion for the past five years, who failed to return from the east in time to enter, may see the state title brought back to Salt Lake by one of the members of her family. Mrs. Billie Sowles, the Salt Lake player, in the final round of play, Mrs. Bigelow today is a sister of Miss Halloran. Should she win out over Mrs. Bigelow, the "Halloran" family will boast of two state champions at golf, which in itself would be a signal honor.

Success for the tournament is due to the methods adopted by Lewis Crook, professional at the local club, who has had charge of the classic.

Classey match. Mrs. Bigelow played remarkably in her match with Mrs. F. W. Bigelow and Mrs. Sowles, favoring the local club, overcoming a big handicap with but six holes remaining in the card. Her ability to overcome handicap and her consistent play throughout the big features of play Thursday.

With but six holes remaining Mrs. Baker was three up on Mrs. Bigelow. Mrs. Baker appearing to be an almost certain winner.

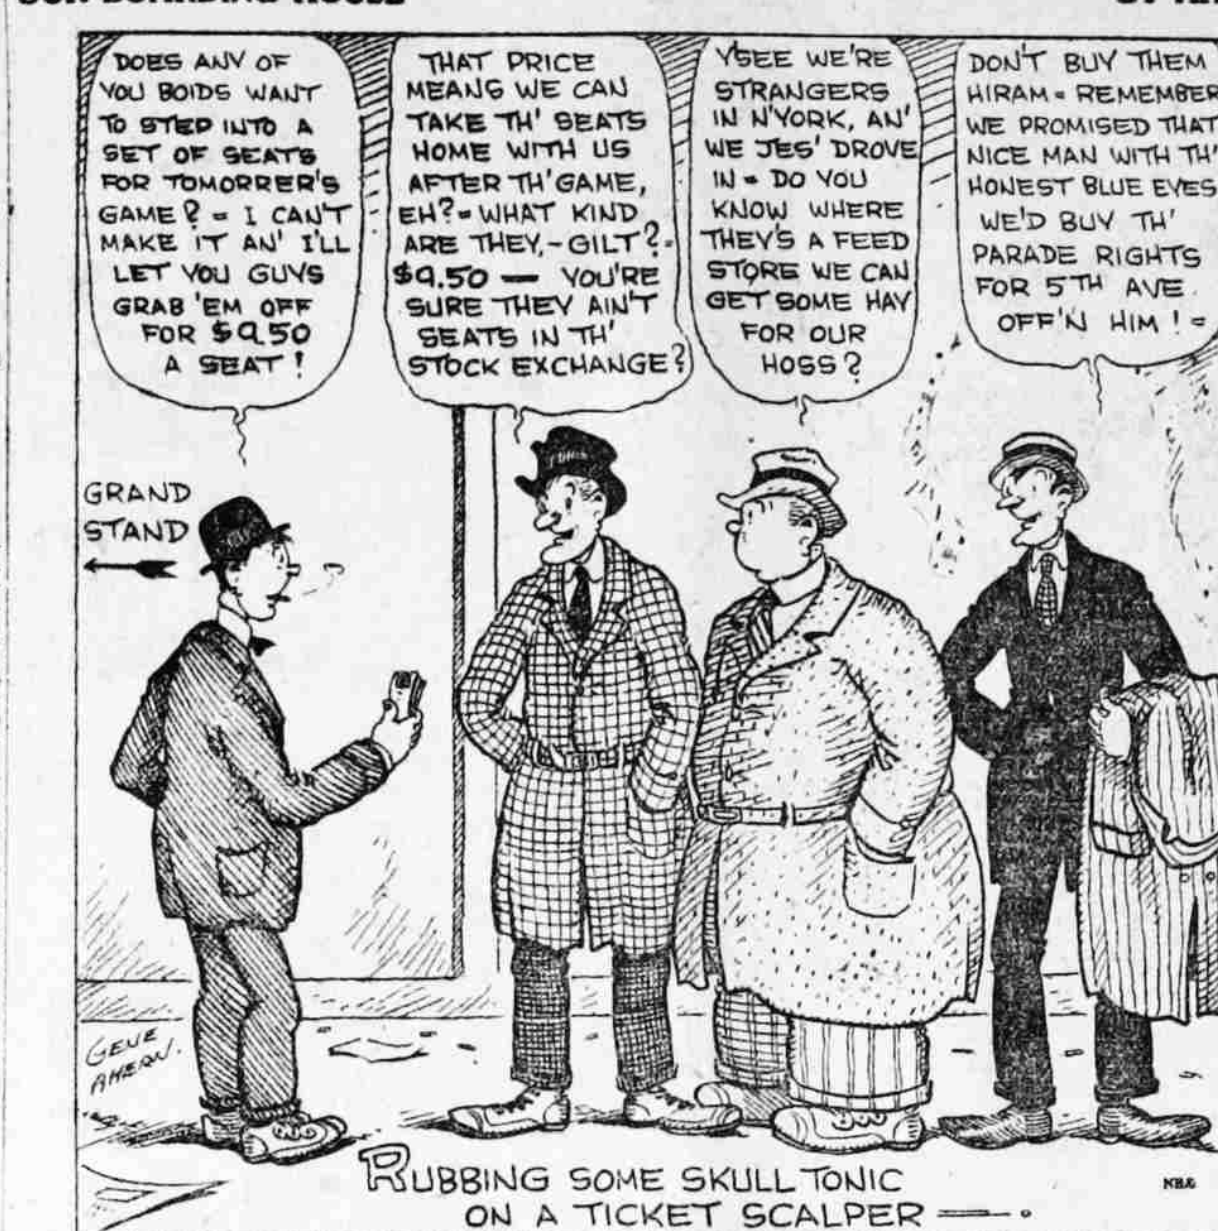

INE SARAZEN, the young Italian, is getting himself measured for crown of America's greatest golfer. Perhaps he will extend his story to the globe. The 21-year-old ex-caddy already won three major titles—the national open, the professional tournament and the southern open. Previous engagements prevented him competing in the western open championship.

Winning three major championships this season is a great feat and those who have been following the little Italian's game think that he has just begun. He is planning on going after the British open championship next year and his chances are fine if he doesn't get overworked.

Then Sarazen won the southern championship last winter. He was only to get him out of the thousands of good golfers in the world. He was the national open, he declared lucky, but when he beat best of all the professional golfers at Oakland, he was accepted as a wonderful player.

KINGS OF GOLF PLAY FOR TITLE

Hagen and Sarazen in Two-day Match at Pittsburg

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—Two kings of the world of golf, attired in raiment intended to rival the lilies of the field, met today on the difficult course at Oakland in the first half of a two-day struggle of 72 holes to determine in an unofficial way, which champion shall be hailed king-conqueror.

The contestants are Walter Hagen, of New York, a veteran but still in his prime, and Eugene Sarazen, of Pittsburg, a blackthorn boy of 21 years, who flashed into stardom at Skokie last July.

Hagen is open champion of Great Britain. Sarazen is the first youth in the history to hold the national professional and national open titles at the same time. He won the open crown in medal play at Skokie and he smashed his way to triumph in the professional tournament in a series of match play struggles on the same course in a very serious business.

The final round of 36 holes will be played tomorrow on the Westchester-Biltmore links at Rye, N. Y. The winner will receive 60 per cent of a purse of $5,000 and the loser will get the remainder.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The Chicago Nationals evened up the series for the city championship with their American league rivals Thursday by winning, 19 to 3. It was the first game the Nationals have won since 1915, the junior organization having won 13 straight games.

Eddie Mulligan, hero of Wednesday's game, had an erratic day and the White Sox defense cracked after the clubs had battled on even terms. The American leaguers coming from behind, used a sharp break in the seventh inning, after which Manager Gleason tried out a couple of his young pitchers. Gleason won the game, 19 to 3, in five innings and pitched great ball in the others.

Johnny Evers, former manager of the Chicago Nationals, who has been acting as assistant to Manager Gleason, replaced Mulligan at third base, was given a big hand by the crowd, but he had nothing to do.

Zeb Terry, a former member of the White Sox, was the batting star of the game, hitting a sharp break in the fifth time up. Today will be an open date and the scene of hostilities will shift to the White Sox park Saturday.

Total attendance 14,616. Total receipts $15,012.30. Players' pool, $7,655.27. Clubs' share $5,104.13. Commission's share $2,251.85.

POCATELLO CHURCH REPORTS GROWTH

POCATELLO, Idaho, Oct. 6.—Reports made by the different departments of the Pocatello church of Pocatello show an excellent growth and condition. The Rev. C. H. Cleaves is the pastor. The reports were made at the annual meeting Wednesday night.

The report of the superintendent of the Sunday school, L. W. Brainerd, was pleasing, as was the report by Mrs. R. E. Manning, and Mrs. A. W. Robinson on the women's work of the past year. H. R. Bucks, church clerk, reported that more than 200 members had been added to the church.

Treasurer Eugene Leonard, showed in his financial report that the church was in good standing, and W. A. McLean for the board of trustees also made an interesting report. W. R. Siders and W. A. McLean were re-elected trustees; B. M. Hines, E. A. Krussman and W. R. Siders were re-elected deacons; L. E. Brainerd, superintendent of the Sunday school; Eugene Leonard, treasurer; Joseph Carlson, clerk and H. L. McLean, W. G. Comstock, C. A. Bryan and J. C. Clark, ushers.

A music program was offered by Mrs. J. E. Hammon, March Pense, Mrs. Leo Hood and I. W. Cornell. Eric Krussman as speaker for the membership, with a few remarks, presented the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Cleaves, a beautifully engraved gold clock as a token of appreciation of the work of the pastor and his wife for the five years of their service in Pocatello.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 6.—Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Anna H. Reidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Reidy of this city, to Wilfred (Rosy) Ryan, the Giants' pitcher, who held the Yankees securely last week. Two innings of the first game of the world's series.

RUBE BENTON WINS FOR ST. PAUL TEAM

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 6.—Mainly because of some wonderful pitching by Rube Benton, former big league southpaw, the St. Paul club evened up the series with Baltimore by capturing the second game Thursday, 2 to 1. Benton held the hard-hitting International league crew to three hits and one run in the first inning. Baltimore's only run in the second inning was a short single to right, was never in danger. Only 31 men faced the St. Paul left-hander. He showed a sharp breaking curve, and his control was almost perfect.

Opposed to Benton was "Lefty" Groves, who fanned 12 players of the New York Giants in an exhibition game last week. Groves fanned nine of the Saints, but was wild and his bases on balls and two errors back of him were responsible for both of St. Paul's runs.

Another hero for St. Paul was Haas, who helped save the game in the seventh and after McAvoy had driven in a triple for a wonderful diving catch.

As Ruth walked down to first, Lady Mountbatten laughed, "Atta boy, Babe!" When the umpire called a strike on Pipp she said: "Rotten," and the lord joined in the chorus of "Take 'em out!"

"I wish," said Lady Mountbatten, after the game, "we could stay for the other games. But we're honeymooning, you know."

SIDELIGHTS ON THE SERIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—All the ingredients of an old-time carnival day were distributed about the Polo Grounds Thursday for the second game of the world series, but the crowd departed leaving them unmixed. The stage was set for a panorama as fascinating and as human as a gladiatorial combat in a Roman coliseum, but the curtain never went up.

The crowd remained strangely apathetic and generally impassive until the last two innings. Veteran spectators who traveled the continent more to whiff the smoke of battle, than to see a pitching duel, pronounced it one of the most undemonstrative gatherings ever collected at a major sporting event.

So blasé were those in the reserved seat sections that when the ninth inning ended at a time approaching their customary hour to get ready to eat, that thousands left their seats, moved toward the exits and hundreds left the arena to avoid the jam of getting a seat on a subway or elevated train. And this, despite the fact that the score was a tie—3 to 3—and every player was on his toes and beginning to look nasty at the umpires.

The bombardment of ungentle epithets directed at Commissioner Landis was a thing apart. A few hoodlums started it and a few thousand others gave it headline possibilities through their curiosity to see what the commotion was all about. Only a few knew where the commissioner sat, and many of those who struggled and fought through the emptying stands to the scene of excitement, went home without finding out.

The official time of the game was two hours and 41 minutes. Monotonously slow for a league game, and incredibly deliberate for a world series contest. The spectators may have taken their guinness from the players, who went through the game as if engaged in a very serious business and pleasure could come afterwards. The athletes were neither chipper nor peppy.

They talked some among themselves and occasionally gave encouragement to their pitchers, but they lacked the vivid spark that makes the crowd see red.

The official weather recorder, lifting his nose from a sheet of duty records, said it was the hottest October fifth in New York's history. The air was dry and close and Old Sol tried to mix a little maulage in his cannonball rays. When it ended most anyone got up from the seats and squirmed with that discomforting expression of "stickiness."

To get a hand in the early innings, a player almost had to move heaven and earth. Walter Frisch made his awesome catch of Scott's terrific grounder, near second, the spectators loosened up. But they soon closed as quickly and assuredly as the station gates.

It would have been a heart-breaking game for either Shawkey or Barnes to lose. Each was fighting for eight hits, although four off Barnes went for extra bases; each two passes and the detailed pitching analysis reveals that Shawkey pitched 136 balls while Barnes threw only one more to the plate. But Shawkey, hit hard in the first inning, when the Giants scored all their runs on Meusel's homer, and wobbled for the next two innings, steadied up and was practically invincible for the remaining seven innings. A double play, Scott to Ward to Pipp, killed off a Giant rally in the second, and after Stengel's home run started with singles, Cunningham, running for Stengel, who retired because of a charley horse, was left on third when Bancroft filed out.
